

Race Track Owners Appeal Decision To Supreme Court

Nov. 10 Set
For Argument
On Appeal

Operators of the West End race track at Gilbert are taking their case to the State Supreme Court, it was learned yesterday.

President Judge Fred W. Davis has issued a final decree granting a permanent injunction against operation of the track.

The final decree was filed Tuesday in the office of Prothonotary James Gould.

An appeal from the final decree was filed Monday in the office of the State Supreme Court prothonotary in Philadelphia, that office said yesterday.

Also filed was a petition for supersedeas which in effect asks permission to continue track operations until the appeal has been disposed of one way or the other.

The Supreme Court prothonotary said a decision on the supersedeas petition would be reached probably "within a few days."

He added that the Monroe County prothonotary would receive a certificate of the decision—either granting or rejecting the petition.

After receiving a writ of certiorari from the Supreme Court yesterday morning, Gould's office forwarded all records in the case to the Supreme Court. They will be used for a review of the case before the appeal hearing.

The appeal was filed by Paul A. McGinley and William N. Kahan Jr., two Allentown attorneys.

The date for argument on the appeal will be Nov. 10 at Philadelphia, the Supreme Court prothonotary's office said.

One of the next steps which must be taken, the office said, is for the appellants to file in the Monroe County courthouse a statement of the questions they intend to argue at the Nov. 10 hearing.

Up to the present point, the defendants, Carolina and Joseph Riboldi, Pleasant Valley Inc. and the West End Automobile Racing Association have been represented by Russell Mervine, Stroudsburg.

George T. Robinson, Stroudsburg, has been counsel for the plaintiffs, the Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, Salem Lutheran church and a number of Gilbert citizens.

Robinson said yesterday it has not yet been decided whether he or George Parry, a Philadelphia attorney, will argue the case at the hearing before the Supreme Court in November. Parry was active in the case here when the plaintiffs were presenting testimony last year.

The race track is located some 50 feet, at one point, from a church guild hall. Plaintiffs objected to dust and noise caused by stock car racing at the track. The races were held Sundays.

Last month Judge Davis granted a decree nisi to which Mervine filed exceptions. The exceptions were turned down in the final decree filed in Gould's office Tuesday.

Military Chiefs Brief Diplomats On Red Threat

Honolulu (AP) — Military experts yesterday briefed top diplomats of Australia, New Zealand and the United States on Communist China's threat of aggression in the Pacific.

As the ANZUS mutual security conference neared an end, the diplomats had only the creation of a military staff and the role of other nations in the Pacific defense set-up left on their agenda. They hoped to adjourn last night.

A conference spokesman said yesterday's first session was in effect a three-hour military briefing on the problem of Communist China. All three ANZUS nations are fighting now under the U.N. Command to contain the Reds in Korea's hot war.

Fine Tells Legion Of Great Need

Philadelphia (AP) — Gov. John S. Fine said last night there is a great need today for "loyalty beyond suspicion and alertness above indifference and doubt."

Fine was the principal speaker at the opening session of the 34th annual convention of the Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion.

The governor sharply criticized those who opposed the state's enactment of a loyalty oath requirement. The opponents of that measure, he said, included members of the Americans for Democratic Action.

Mills Granted Price Hikes For Aluminum

Washington, (AP) — The government yesterday granted ceiling price increases to the 14 billion dollar a year aluminum industry, estimated to boost the cost of primary aluminum products about 62½ million dollars annually.

The Office of Price Stabilization approved a hike of one cent a pound—from 18 to 19 cents—in the ceiling for primary aluminum pig, alloy pig and primary aluminum ingot. These commonly are referred to as raw aluminum.

A boost of 5 per cent was authorized in ceilings on alloy ingot and other primary aluminum mill products. These include sheets, coil plate, blanks, foil, wire, rods, roofing and hars. The new ceilings were made effective as of last Monday.

Price officials said eventually a good part of the increases will apply to goods made of aluminum or containing aluminum sold to consumers.

Rail Talks Break Off

New York (AP) — Talks between the strike-threatened New York Central Railroad and union officials on back pay claims and other grievances broke off suddenly yesterday.

Representatives of four unions strode from the negotiation session without comment as to what their next move would be.

A strike to start this week on New York Central lines east of Buffalo, N.Y., was threatened unofficially last weekend, but the situation apparently eased when the management-union talks began on Monday.

Lawrence W. Hornings, the railroad's vice president in charge of personnel and public relations, said the union representatives had not announced at the broken-off session any intention of striking. But he said he had given them a letter asking for a "peaceful and regular procedure for the settlement of our differences" so there would be no economic loss to thousands of employees and no loss or inconvenience to passengers and shippers.

Passengers traveling between Buffalo and New York could find alternate means of transportation in event of strike, but at least 50,000 commuters depend solely on New York Central lines running north out of New York City.

Symington Thumps Truman's Candidate In Senate Primary

By The Associated Press

President Truman's choice for the Democratic senatorial nomination in his home state of Missouri took a shattering Tuesday at the hands of Stuart Symington, a former Truman trouble-shooter and one-time Washington "glamor boy."

Symington beat Truman's pick, state Atty. Gen. J. E. (Buck) Taylor, by a thumping majority of more than 180,000 votes. Truman himself had voted for Taylor before flying back to Washington.

Symington, former secretary of the Air Force and cleanup boss of the scandal-ridden Reconstruction Finance Corp., before he quit early this year, will oppose Republican Sen. James P. Kenn, a Truman administration foe, in the November election.

In the Michigan state primary, Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Fred M. Alger Jr., his Republican secretary of state, emerged as finalists in the fight for governor in the November elections. Both are young, both sons of Detroit's gold coast. Williams, who was unopposed, is seeking a third term. Alger beat his closest opponent by more than 100,000 votes.

The Michigan vote—a huge turnout threatening the state's all-time primary record of 1,047,117—also turned up a spectacular performance by Republican Congressman Charles E. Potter, 35-year-old World War Two veteran who lost both legs in France.

Potter won the GOP nomination to oppose Sen. Moody, Democrat, in November, after rolling up a huge majority over his nearest rival. Moody was unopposed. Potter, a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, campaigned with heavy emphasis on the theme of graft in Washington and left-wing influences in the government.

Another feature of the GOP voting was the upset victory of 32-year-old Alvin M. Bentley, critic of U.S. foreign policy, over Rep. Fred L. Crawford, 64, a veteran of 18 years in the House of Representatives.

In Kansas, Lt. Gov. Fred Hall beat off an attempt by the state administration of Gov. Edward F. Arn, an Eisenhower leader, to purge him in the state's GOP primary. Hall trimmed the Arn-backed entry, Wayne Ryan.

South Carolina Democrats Back Party's Slate

By The Associated Press

Calls for a Southern revolt in the bitter political struggle over civil rights last steam yesterday as the South Carolina Democratic Convention backed the national Democratic ticket of Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Sen. John J. Sparkman by a big majority.

South Carolina's action gave a boost to Stevenson's candidacy and went a long way toward plugging a potential breach in the traditionally Democratic solid South.

That plug was tightened in Springfield, Ill., where Stevenson met with Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, the Dixie choice for the nomination, and Russell predicted a Stevenson victory "by one of the largest majorities any man ever had."

Russell told newsmen he based his prediction on the belief the Democratic party is more unified than ever before.

Meantime a development in Washington caught the attention of political experts. President Truman invited Stevenson to attend a Cabinet meeting at the White House next Tuesday and Stevenson accepted.

Veteran students of the Washington political scene could not recall a similar case of the President asking a nominee to sit down with the Cabinet and meet those he has not yet met.

It could also serve to focus the national spotlight anew on Stevenson, who was not too widely known only a few months ago.

That day's big political news was the decision of South Carolina Democratic leaders to make the national party ticket of Stevenson and Sparkman the state party ticket despite the smoldering resentment over the civil rights issue.

The Carolinians, meeting in state convention with the door left ajar for a possible bolt, swung into line after Gov. James P. Byrnes advised them against putting the Eisenhower-Nixon Republican ticket on the state ballot under the Democratic label.

Byrnes, a frequent critic of the Truman administration, had angrily attacked the party's civil rights plank at the Chicago convention two weeks ago, terming it more objectionable than the 1948 plank that sparked a Dixie walk-out. He also declared Stevenson's civil rights attitude was "sugar coated."

But with the chips down, Byrnes counseled that it "would not be right" for Democrats to put the Republican nominee.

A heated floor fight erupted as speaker after speaker urged that Eisenhower be named as the state party's nominee. Sen. Burnet R. Maybank and Sen. Olin D. Johnston were booed when they spoke in support of Stevenson.

Byrnes said he wanted to hear more about the views of both Stevenson and Eisenhower before deciding how to cast his own vote, but he told the convention:

"If today were election day, I would vote for Stevenson and Sparkman—not because they are labeled Democrats, but because of their personal qualifications and their records in public office."

South Carolina's action seemed likely to affect other Southern states, although a movement was already under way by 500 States' Rights Democrats in Mississippi in an effort to carry the state for Eisenhower in November.

Objects Resembling 'Flying Saucers' Produced By Scientist In Glass Jar

Washington, (AP) — An Army scientist experimenting with a glass jar has succeeded in producing fiery objects that look just like some of those seen shooting through the night skies in recent weeks.

A spokesman for the Army Corps of Engineers said yesterday these findings of physicist Noel Scott are being made public because they explain at least some of the many "flying saucer" reports the Air Force has been investigating lately.

By introducing molecules of ionized air into the partial vacuum of his bell jar, Scott reported, he has created the orange-red balls, discs, mushrooms and "ice cream cones" familiar to hundreds of excited sky watchers.

Scott said these miniature masses of illuminated air have sufficient body or substance to be picked up by radar.

Thus they may account for the shower of mysterious "blips" seen on radar screens around Washington during a thunderstorm Tuesday night. Jet fighters based at New Castle, Del., were sent into the air to investigate the phenomena. They climbed to 15,000 feet, but reported they could find nothing unusual.

The Army engineers' spokesman said the corps did not consider that Scott's findings represented a solution of all "flying saucer" reports. But they explain some of them, he said, and may shed light on the mystery generally.

Stanley J. Fetherman Dies; Served As Assistant Chief Of Police In Stroudsburg

Stanley J. Fetherman, 50, of 110 N. Ninth St., assistant police chief of Stroudsburg Borough, died at 11:15 last night, about an hour after he was admitted to General Hospital.

He was reported to have suffered a stroke at his home about 10 p. m., and was removed to the hospital in an unconscious condition. He was placed in an oxygen tent and given emergency treatment in a futile effort to save his life.

Mr. Fetherman was taken ill after he had brought his wife, Stella, to their home from a meeting and let her out of the car. He was preparing to park the car when the attack occurred.

The family physician, Dr. Theodore Hau, was called to the home. Fetherman was given emergency treatment there prior to the arrival of the ambulance.

Mr. Fetherman first joined the

Sawyer Fearful Of Effects Of Drought On Jobs, Trade

Washington, (AP) — Fearful of the impact of the drought on business activity and employment, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer has taken a poll of his field offices which shows:

No serious slump in any area, but some sharp increases in produce prices; scattered setbacks to rural trade; some decrease in the hiring of harvesters and, in a few areas, a threat to factory production if dry weather persists.

The drought has business men as well as farmers scanning the skies for rain clouds. Sawyer has ordered a repeat survey next Monday, with field men reporting by wire.

Most of them informed him that crop damages — estimated at around a billion dollars — so far has not been reflected in curtailed buying or hiring in agriculture centers.

Concern was felt, however, that sales of farm implements ultimately would be hurt. This concern was expressed even in the Midwest although the corn belt is affected only moderately by the drought.

In New Hampshire, where agriculture is hard hit, the department's informants feared a water power shortage would "produce some industrial unemployment."

Defense production officials have been notified also that some defense activities are threatened in oil producing Oklahoma in the next month or two unless the water supply for industrial plants is replenished.

In New York, the National Association of Retail Meat and Food Dealers told commerce aides that purchasing declines have been felt "to some extent in stricken areas in the South and some sections of New England, particularly Maine and Massachusetts."

Evidence of a "scare psychology" is being shown in stimulated buying of canned vegetables and fruits in the commodity markets, the American Institute of Food Distribution reported.

Price rises were noted for lettuce, corn, tomatoes, and other fresh produce by the New York State Food Merchants Association. This group believed prices would not go out of sight, however, because of large stocks of frozen and canned foods on hand.

Asked about this, Arnall said any comment would have to come from Truman.

Arnall refused to say whether he tendered his resignation as chief of the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS). He is known to be anxious to return to his law practice in Georgia, and there has been speculation that he would quit Sept. 1.

Asked about this, Arnall said any comment would have to come from Truman.

Eleven MIGs Destroyed, 13 Damaged

Seoul (AP) — Deadly U.S. Sabre jets tangled with a sky full of Communist MIGs yesterday and shot down six in the third straight day of torrid combat, the Fifth Air Force said.

Three other Red planes were hit, bringing the three-day toll to 11 destroyed and 13 damaged, American losses, if any, are announced weekly.

Fifty B26 light bombers swept across North Korea last night to smash an important military target at Hwangju, south of the Communist capital of Pyongyang, the Air Force announced. Returning pilots said about 20 buildings and a number of gun positions were wiped out.

The Air Force did not identify the target.

The Air Force said 215 Communist MIG jets were spotted over North Korea yesterday—not an all time high, but far more than have been in one day for weeks.

Air Force officers said there was no immediate evidence that the MIGs were swarming in greater numbers because of the Allied announcement that military targets in 78 North Korean cities would be bombed.

Wednesday's seven air battles were fought over MIG Alley, deep in Northwest Korea. Tuesday the Red planes ventured almost to the 38th Parallel, deeper south than ever before.

One of the war's most bizarre incidents highlighted the aerial battles.

Capt. William J. Ryan, Keeseville, N. Y., ducked his F86 Sabre jet out of the way of an attacking MIG. The confused MIG pilot kept right on firing. His cannon shells ripped into another MIG that Ryan had been attacking, blowing it up and sending it to earth in flames.

While Sabres swept aside the defending MIGs Allied fighter-bombers swept across Korea in a series of attacks on ground targets. Pilots claimed as destroyed or damaged 59 troop and supply bunkers, 28 gun positions, 23 supply buildings, 12 rail cars, nine rail bridges and one command post.

The day's ground fighting was centered in the East central sector. Chinese Communist infantrymen finally seized and held an Allied advance position after more than 13 hours of fighting.

They took the position—on high ground west of the Pukhan River—late Tuesday night. U. N. troops recaptured it Wednesday morning but the Reds fought their way back a few hours later.

Ike Silent On Itinerary

Denver, (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said yesterday he is going to keep the Democratic opposition guessing for about a month regarding his campaign itinerary plans.

The Republican presidential nominee told newsmen:

"There is no use giving the opposition a chance to surround you with county fairs and other rallies. After all, during the war I never told the enemy a month in advance where I was going to attack."

The general was host to about 20 newsmen at an informal buffet luncheon and chatted a bit afterward.

Eisenhower took it comparatively easy yesterday after a post-midnight return to his headquarters here from Los Angeles, where Tuesday night he made his first major speech since winning the GOP nomination.

Joseph Nye, 71, Dies At Tannersville

Joseph Elliot Nye, 71, of Tannersville, died at 10:30 a.m. yesterday at his home following an 11-week illness.

Born at Egypt Mills, Pike County, he was the son of the late Moses C. and Emily Nye. He was in the lumbering business for a number of years with his uncle, George Nye, operating mills in Monroe and Pike Counties.

From 1930 to 1941 he maintained a Ford agency in Stroudsburg and built the present Ford garage, now operated by Haynes Motors. He was a Pocono Township school director for one term and a township supervisor for two terms. He was a member of Tannersville Lutheran Church, BPOE No. 319 of East Stroudsburg, life member of Tall Cedars of Lebanon of Easton, member of the IOOF, Tannersville, Pocono Township Volunteer Fire Co., and had been active in a number of civic projects.

Surviving are his wife, Leola H.; two daughters, Julia S. Nye, at home, and Mrs. E. Rodger Miller, Pocono Pines; and two grandchildren.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Dunkelberger and Westbrook funeral home, Stroudsburg, with Rev. Edward Horn, D.D., officiating. Burial will be in Laurelwood Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 p.m. Friday. IOOF will hold services at the funeral home at 8 p.m. Friday.

Council Requests Contractor To Supply Date For Resuming Work On Newberry Building

Stroudsburg Council last night decided to immediately contact the Esch Construction Co., contractors in charge of erection of the J. J. Newberry Co. with a request for an accurate date on resumption of activities on the project at Sixth and Main Sts.

Principal question, other than date of resumption of activity, is when the concern expects to receive delivery and start erecting steel.

Some three weeks ago, council decided to allow a status quo on the N. Sixth St. condition to allow the contractor to pursue his plan to steel erection. In return, they exacted certain requirements from the contractor, one of which was moving back the barricade on Main St. to permit easier flow of pedestrian traffic.

Last night Attorneys Arlington W. Williams and James Scanlon, representing Mrs. Mary Smith and the Park Market, respectively, appeared before council.

Mr. Williams was spokesman. He presented a petition from various business men on N. Sixth St., complaining against lack of a sidewalk on the east side of the street where the contractor has absorbed the walking space with some materials and equipment.

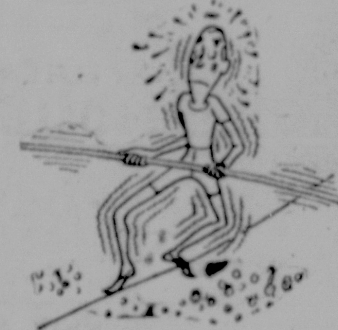

Mr. Williams said his client, Mrs. Smith and the business people have no desire to hamper the contractor, but they feel that lack of use of the sidewalk for so long a time is not reasonable.

He said these business people complain of loss of business; customers, particularly the aged, complain of the hazard and that they are asking only that council order the contractor to place a temporary walk with an overhead canopy or whatever other safety measures council deems advisable for safe movement of pedestrian traffic.

Mr. Williams said he fully realized that citizens have the same right as council to proceed under borough laws, but that he felt council should take the steps sought. If, he said, the contractor then refuses to cooperate, then his clients will feel they should proceed under the law.

Rather than immediately issue any edicts or orders, council modified their previous stand to the extent they will ask Esch for adequate information on time of start or construction and steel erection dates.

Future action by council will be predicated on the reply.

Blind Group To Present Concert Here

A concert by four well known musicians is scheduled for Aug. 14 in the East Stroudsburg Junior High School.

In addition to their talent and professional acclaim the musicians will have one other thing in common—they are blind.

The concert is one of the many given each year by an organization known as "Blind Artists Concert," with offices in Upper Darby, Pa.

Founder and manager of the concert bureau is Luigi Bocelli, known in this country and abroad as the "Blind Caruso," whose devotion to music as a profession and personal desire to find a place for the blind artist in present-day music circles led him to the promotion of a central "booking agency" for artists who were similarly handicapped.

Bocelli will appear on the Aug. 14 program as one of the soloists. Others will be Stanley Plawa, pianist and impressionist; Catherine Deraco, soprano, who is well-known in this area and Dick, Bocelli, baritone, who will serve as guest artist for the appearance.

Accompanist for the concert,

LITTLE TALKS WITH BIG THOUGHTS

Day after day, night after night; the hot steaming weather lasted. Radio, newspaper and television blared out the same story, "Humidity—Fog—Rain and Heat. No relief in sight."

Then one night I awoke to feel a breeze. Gradually the breeze became a strong wind shifting out of the north. At last, relief. And, when the day broke, there was the Sun, shining down on a newly cooled world.

I thought, as I watched the Sun rise, how like it was unto faith; no matter how long and how low the dreary weather lasted, shining thru it was the Sun. I knew this. I believed it. So, too, will my faith bring thru the dreary days of life.

They Drive and Die

As on every Monday of the year and more especially those following summer weekends, the statisticians add up the number of men, women and children who died violently because in this age of mechanism the ability of man to control the machine has not kept pace with the development of the machine itself.

Only last week the State Highway Safety Bureau, in a survey of 1951 accidents, came up with the conclusion that contrary to the belief of most of us, the majority of automobile accidents occur in daylight on dry, unobstructed highways. And furthermore, said the report, most cars involved in accidents are not defective, the drivers had at least a year of experience and were not driving illegally. They just were not paying attention!

From this we can only conclude that most of the accidents that plague us day in and day out, and send so many to the morgues or to the hospitals, are not the fault of a single element other than the carelessness of the driver.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington, August 6—Was Alger Hiss framed?

No evidence has ever been produced to indicate that the convicted liar, perjurer and Communist spy belongs anywhere but where he is—in prison.

Hiss has undergone months of investigation by Congressional spy hunters; he has had his life and times searched diligently and intelligently by the full resources of the Federal Bureau of Investigation; he has been submitted to two trials by jury; he has had presented on his behalf voluminous contentions that he is entitled to a third trial. He has had the services of at least 16 qualified attorneys, three experienced private investigators, a psychiatrist and psychologist, an expert on paper analysis, and various handwriting and typewriting experts plus a metallurgist.

Hiss has been the beneficiary of untold thousands of dollars, contributed by friends and relatives—people who could pay $7,500 to reconstruct a typewritten on the fatuous theory that it would prove the opposite of what his lawyers admitted in court; that is, that the typewriter he admitted owning is a fake.

Having destroyed the contention by Hiss that Whittaker Chambers, unaided and unskilled in manufacturing typewriters, could have built a Woodstock machine to trap the State Department official, the U.S. Attorney in New York was forced to set about proving the Hiss typewriter that sat in mute evidence during his trials, had never been tampered with. He called in the FBI again.

In a re-trial motion Hiss, after first admitting the typewriter belonged to him, then denying it could have been introduced by Chambers as evidence of his espionage, returned to the initial position by charging that the typewriter really did exist but had been tampered with; that keys had been substituted to match the typing in the incriminating documents.

Hiss now concludes that if Chambers did not manufacture his own Woodstock typewriter, he at least added some type accumulated from somewhere to produce a machine that typed figures identical with the Hiss machine.

A metallurgical expert hired by Hiss took a sample of solder from various keys of the Hiss machine. He noted that the nickel content varied; that there is more nickel in the solder on the so-called altered keys than on the so-called unaltered keys. The metallurgical expert had access to the manufacturing procedures of the Woodstock Typewriter Company, but either ignored it or found it useless to prove his contention.

Conrad Youngberg, a plant superintendent at Woodstock from 1929 to 1933, and Otto Hokanson and Joseph Schmitt, also long-time employees of the typewriter concern, collectively testified in re-trial depositions that nickel was never intentionally mixed with solder at the Woodstock factory.

The typewriter bar, to which the keys are attached, is dipped in a nickel bath. The actual keys, never, thus an irregular accumulation of nickel is normal on typewriter bars and as a coating on the solder. If there were altered or fake keys soldered to the Hiss typewriter bars there would be less, not more, nickel, since not even Whittaker Chambers has been accused of re-dipping the Hiss machine bars in a nickel bath.

Hiss next turned his attention to the number of threads in the ribbon on the Hiss typewriter. He asserted that the machine that typed the documents did not use the same ribbon. The government has never contended that one typewriter ribbon was used to type all of the hundreds of secret documents Chambers got from Hiss.

Next, Hiss asserted that the Woodstock plant could not have manufactured the Hiss typewriter because the steel content in the various bars and keys varied and could not have been produced at the same plant.

Woodstock did not in the period in question, 1925 to 1929, produce the steel used in their machines. They do not do so now. The steel, asserted government and Woodstock witnesses under oath, was purchased from many sources, and the bars and keys were manufactured continuously and dumped into common bins. No given texture of metal was ever deliberately routed to a particular typewriter, or batch of them.

Claims were made that the Hiss typewriter keys had abnormal tool marks on them. Government experts proved the marks were made by natural wear.

Factographs

Natives of Bermuda use shark oil in a bottle as a barometer.

Fourteen Indian tribes, with a total population of 50,000, are on 37 reservations which cover more than 20 million acres of the state of Arizona.

This, we presume, is not new but it should continue to be emphasized in the hope that we can school better drivers as time goes on, and persuade the careless ones to pay more attention to their responsibilities.

Failing that, the tragic record of highway killings will continue.

Atomic Progress

The atomic energy problem is so secret that few Americans realize how enormous it is.

But three out of every 100 construction workers in the nation are now building atomic projects. A few giant plant yet to be started will require more electrical power than all New York City consumes.

The Atomic Energy Commission announces "substantial progress" in weapon development in its new report, and adds the cheering news that production of uranium in the United States itself is at a record high.

This vast and expensive program—it will cost more than $4 billions in the current fiscal year—largely is directed toward weapon production, as it must be in these times of world danger. But atomic energy has enormous possibilities of peace-time use, notably for propulsion and in medical research, where great progress already has been made.

Thus it will may be that the billions we are forced to spend for defense also may assure a better world when peace finally comes.

Florence, Italy, has more works of art than any other city in the world.

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

Well, I said good-bye to San Francisco and boarded the train for New York.

However, before I tell you something about this train and the trip through the Feather River Canyon and the Rocky Mountains, let me just say something about diet.

I had lunch in Solari's, one of San Francisco's famous old Italian restaurants, with an old newspaper friend. This fellow and I worked together for a quarter of a century ago and we were both kidding each other how neither of us had changed one bit since those good old days.

We pretended not to see the receding hair line, the wrinkles, the extended waist and the protruding (excuse me) stomach.

But Gene, my friend, told me about his five grandchildren, his wife's ulcers, and his own diminished energy.

I told him about my heart attack four years ago, about how tired I get late in the afternoon and about my neuritis.

But, both of us pretended that we had never felt better in our lives!

The menu in Solari's is famous for its variety, and the cooking is delicious although a bit on the rich side.

I ordered braised celery with anchovies, ravioli with a delicious meat sauce, strawberry shortcake and coffee.

Gene ate only a chicken sandwich.

"How come?" I asked him. "You used to be a very copious eater, if I remember correctly."

"Oh, I've got to watch my diet," he replied. "The doctor told me I have signs of diabetes. Whenever I eat too much my weight shoots right up, and when it does I have absolutely no pep."

He took out a little bottle and dropped a pellet into his coffee. "Saccharin," he remarked. "Sugar doesn't agree with me."

To top off his diet, he ordered a chocolate éclair with big globes of whipped cream on top.

"I guess once won't hurt me," he said. "Somehow you made me feel young again."

I can't say that the rich ravioli agreed with me any too well.

I guess I, too, am getting a little older than I was 25 years ago.

So much for the diet.

If you ever travel out to the West Coast, I'd suggest that you try the "California Zephyr" of the C. B. and Q. the Denver and Rio Grande and the Western Pacific.

I am not getting paid for this, and all the other railroads and the planes are good, too.

But for a change try this road that goes through the most beautiful part of the Rockies and California's glorious Feather River Canyon.

It has the new Vista Dome cars and all sorts of other conveniences, such as radio in every room, beautiful "Zephyrettes" to look after your comfort. The train has push buttons for just about everything except money.

We pulled into Sacramento, California's capital, once the terminal of the Pony Express, the stage coach which miners used during the gold rush in 1849.

They used to rest there awhile and get the first decent meal in many a day.

And there I went into the plushy dining car of my train.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

The Immigration Law

Few acts of Congress have been as violently attacked as Public Law 414, passed by the 82nd Congress, vetoed by the President and passed over his veto. This is a codification of all existing laws on the subject of immigration, naturalization and nationality, to which the Congress added some features. The law runs 120 pages of fine print, which means that few will read it, although many will speak about it.

The principal responsible objection to Public Law 414 is that it shows preference for Western European immigrants and discriminates against Eastern and Southern European immigrants and Asiatics. This is undoubtedly true. The quota system has prevailed since 1921 and remains in effect.

No one can gainsay the right of a state to place limitations upon immigration. Nor can the right of a country to determine what kind of immigrants it prefers be gainsaid. There may be vast differences of opinion on this subject but in our country, the final decision has to be made by Congress. An absolutely free immigration, without any restrictions at all, is not even thinkable in the United States at the present time.

The difficulty of setting limitations are enormous and no system devised can be satisfactory. The quota system is as good or as bad as any other.

The present law adopted the general principles of the McCarran Act and excludes persons for being Communists. The provisions on this subject are long and detailed. There is too much to quote; however, this paragraph is definitive:

"(C) Aliens who are members of or affiliated with (1) the Communist Party of the United States, (2) any other totalitarian party of the United States, (3) the Communist Political Association, (4) the Communist or any other totalitarian party of any State of the United States, of any foreign state, or of any political or geographical subdivision of any foreign state, (5) any section, subsidiary, branch, affiliate, or subdivision of any such association or party, or (6) the direct predecessors or successors of any such association or party, regardless of what name such group or organization may have used, may now bear, or may hereafter adopt: Provided, That nothing in this paragraph, or in any other provision of this Act, shall be construed as declaring that the Communist Party does not advocate the overthrow of the Government of the United States by force, violence, or other unconstitutional means . . ."

The definition of terms runs seven paragraphs of the law, but it ages a step further. It provides a loophole for those who once were Communists and have since ceased to be. But to avoid the subterfuge of mere declaration of anti-Communism, the law defines, in effect, an ex-Communist as follows:

"...since the termination of such membership or affiliation such alien is and has been, for at least five years prior to the date of the application for a visa, actively opposed to the doctrine, program, principles, and ideology of such party or organization or the section, subsidiary, branch, or affiliate or subdivision thereof, and (B) the admission of such alien into the United States would be in the public interest . . ."

In a word, an ex-Communist has to establish his bona fides or his presence in this country must be worthwhile for the United States, as, for instance, if he were an atomic scientist.

As so many American citizens are of European origin and as many of them are sentimentally attached to the countries of their ancestry, the immigration problem of this country is different from most other countries.

Those who advocate the quota system base their theories on the historic fact that the human basis for the American civilization has been essentially Western European, that is, British, Scotch, Irish, French, Dutch, German and Scandinavian.

Those who oppose the quota system point to the undeniable fact that in the late 19th cen-ent time, the difficulty of setting limitations are enormous and no system devised can be satisfactory. The quota system is as good or as bad as any other.

ent time, the character of our Immigration changed, with emphasis on Southern and Eastern Europe. They further take the position that the quota system places discriminatory limitations on Roman Catholic and Jews.

In spite of the correctness of both positions, the fact remains that if a quota system is to be used at all, it is bound to be discriminatory against some group. The Anglo-Saxon philosophic and social basis for this country cannot be denied and a consensus of American opinion would favor such preference under the quota system.

Try And Stop Me

Bennet Cerf, millionaire merchant and sportsman, tells about three octogenarians who were asked with whom they'd like to be buried. "John D. Rockefeller," said the first. "He not only made fortunes, but gave them away." "Franklin D. Roosevelt," said the second. "He was one of the greatest Presidents of all time." The third old man said, "My choice is Marilyn Monroe." "But Marilyn Monroe isn't dead yet," pointed out the questioner. "I know," was the answer. "Neither am I."

Didn't he get the business from Truman? . . . Roger L. ## The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

The Worm Turns

The hiring of General Douglas MacArthur by a big corporation shows a belated realization by big business that if it is to get anywhere against heavy attacks all along the line, it needs field marshals, mobile reserves and better battle plans. For the past two decades business has been out in No Man's Land under a heavy barrage from the Bureaucratic Zouaves, the Political Hussars, the Pinko Snipers, the Professional Parachutists and the Tankers' Tank Units. It has really needed trained fighters more than the Army and Navy.

Business has been surrounded for twenty years. It has been "coming in on a wing and a tax-bill." A general gives it what it needs, a military front, combat experience and long experience on the firing line. And it big business needs a general, small business could use both a general and an admiral. (It is all at sea in a heavy undertow of forms, bulletins, questionnaires and directives.) The hiring of MacArthur may be the forerunner of wound stripes for stockholders. Such traditional corporation offices as president and general manager may give way to a generalissimo and a chief of staff. Why not? War is war!

If we were investing in a corporation today we would not ask for its last quarterly statement. We would ask for its last battle mark is wonderful; so normal and human. To play a scene with him is just great. Henry Fonda, too. You don't feel like you're playing a scene with him; you forget you're acting."

A time or two, in scenes with these gentlemen, Miss Darnell was so carried away by the reality of it all that she forgot her lines.

Will she ever marry again? "To have a marriage and a career and try to be successful at both takes more energy and time than I've got," Linda said. "I'm happier than I've been in years and years, just relaxing. But if I fall in love, there's no telling what I might do."

Miss Darnell, who has done some movie acting in Jamaica and England, wants to do more abroad. She goes to Rome in summer or fall for a picture. Her 4½-year-old adopted daughter will go along.

Council Seeks To Erect Blinker At Foot Of Foxtown Hill

No Passing Zone Urged On Main St.

A move was made last night to seek State Highway Department's safety division cooperation for the elimination of two very serious traffic hazards in the borough.

Council will ask the safety division to permit erection of a blinker signal up the Foxtown Hill grade from the Morningstar Ave.-Park Ave. curve on Route 611 where there is a constant wave of accidents.

Over the years this curve has been the site of accidents which have not only caused thousands of dollars in property damage to nearby residents but to vehicles.

A number of deaths have resulted from such accidents as well as numerous personal injuries.

The second request to be filed will ask permission to have W. Main St. from Fetherman St. to Pocono Creek Bridge made a no passing zone to eliminate the hazards to children attending the high school, junior high school and Morey grade and kindergarten school.

Both of these requests have been previously submitted, but both were refused. Increasing flow of traffic and other change on conditions caused council to resubmit both proposals.

George T. Robinson, solicitor, reported that per council's previous directive the Keiper Laundry had detached from the Stroudsburg sanitary sewer system to which it had attached without authorization.

Council advised the solicitor to proceed with other phases of the Keiper matter, including prosecution for violation of an ordinance and collection of sewer rental for the time the concern was attached to the system.

Two ESSTC Grads Elected Teachers In Bangor Schools

Bangor—Two new teachers for the 1952-53 school year were elected at a school board meeting last night.

Chosen to serve as fourth-grade instructor at the McKinley building was Henry Charles Pritchard, Portland, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, and former instructor at Delaware, N. J.

Pritchard replaces Mrs. Ruth B. Thomas. He also attended Lehigh University in Bethlehem this year. Samuel A. Smith, also a graduate of the East Stroudsburg Teachers College, was chosen to act as social studies instructor in the Bangor High School, replacing Russell H. Baggot of Stroudsburg, whose resignation was accepted at last night's meeting.

In other actions, the board: Set tuition fees for elementary students from outside the area at $118.71 per school year. Fees for high school students were simultaneously fixed at $138.58.

Approved girls' basketball for the coming season and authorized school officials to obtain applications for the coaching position.

Late Crops To Benefit From Rain

Rain soaked the soil and gurgled in the gutters yesterday but the drenching was expected to have no marked effect on the county's agriculture.

H. John Davis reported 1.26 inches from 5 p. m. Tuesday to 5 p. m. yesterday at Mount Pocono Airport.

County Agent Arthur Ilt said many crops already have been harvested, however, Chief beneficiaries of the rain would be potatoes, corn, late pasture and new seedlings, he said.

Some of the big West End potato growers said the rain came too late to do the potatoes much good. Yields were expected to be off from a half to a third this year. The rain will make the ground softer and the digging easier.

The downpour put on a good display of thunder and lightning throughout the county early yesterday but caused little damage. In the Mount Pocono area, power was reported off for a half hour during the night.

State police reported no washouts or other damage to roads or bridges.

The rain continued intermittently throughout the day and last night.

The weatherman called for more of the same today, with little change in temperature. The low for last night was predicted as 65-70.

Wife Of Copper Executive Dies

London (AP)—Mrs. Edith Beatty, American-born wife of copper magnate Chester Beatty, died Tuesday at their "millionaires row" home in London's Kensington section. They were married in 1913. Beatty, also American-born, became a naturalized Englishman in 1933.

County Draft Board Doesn't Expect To Call Up Fathers, At Least For Time Being

The possible induction of fathers by the Monroe County Draft Board or in any other Pennsylvania district seemed remote yesterday to both State and local officials.

One Monroe County board member said this district has "a fairly good supply" of men in the 21 and 22-year-old group on which to work as a backlog.

This would tend to minimize the necessity for drafting fathers in this area for the time being.

On the State level, Lt. Col. Frank J. Graf, deputy director of State Selective Service, said Pennsylvania has a backlog of some 6,500 qualified men to use up before even considering the induction of fathers.

This release was a reply to a statement by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey that it may be necessary to draft some fathers to maintain the armed forces at their current strength.

"We're in better shape than many of the states because of the credit we received for the induction of the 28th Division back in 1950," Graf said.

Fred Rhodes, a member of the county board, said "We can't say for sure, of course, because you can never tell until the quotas come in how many men you're going to be asked to send."

Basically, however, Rhodes pointed out that "the same thing (see statement by Graf) applies to our area."

Pennsylvania has a quota of 1,398 men for the August call and 763 for September. Graf indicated the call may be larger for the rest of the year.

The State official explained that, following the completion of draft calls for the 21 and 22 year age group, there would still be a "pool" of thousands of 18, 19 and 20-year-olds untapped.

Stephen Foster, who wrote such songs as "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Old Folks At Home," died homeless and forsaken in a New York hospital charity ward.

Taylor Drives 113 Miles On Job In County

It took Chief Clerk Harry Taylor 113 miles to finish his job yesterday—all in Monroe County.

Trio Faces Additional Theft Counts

Two additional charges of theft were placed yesterday against three men in Monroe County jail who are charged with some 15 thefts in the Monroe County area.

New Jersey authorities accused Joseph Miller, 22, of 24 E. Broad St., East Stroudsburg; Richard LaBar, 28, of 247 Harris St., East Stroudsburg, and Harry LeRuth, 19, of Portland, of stealing parts from a hoist engine in Piquaquary Township, N. J., June 15; and of stealing radiators and batteries worth $25 in Knowlton Township, N. J., July 23.

The New Jersey police talked with the three young men yesterday at the Stroudsburg sub-station.

The warrant was issued by Judge George M. Shipman of Phillipsburg.

The three were arrested by Stroudsburg State police and committed to the county jail July 30. They are being held there pending further court action in September.

Rhee Assured Of Reelection To Presidency

Pusan, Korea, (AP)—Syngman Rhee was assured of reelection as President of the Republic of Korea today.

Incomplete returns from Tuesday's first popular election had already given him more than enough votes to win.

The aging white-haired President was way out in front with 3,689,809 of the five million votes counted. He needed only a bare plurality of the estimated seven million votes cast.

His three opponents, largely unknown to the public, trailed far behind.

The nearest was Cho Bong Am, a former Communist who changed ideas in 1945 and now is vice chairman of the National Assembly. He had only 671,445 votes.

The vote for vice president was close, but here, too, the Rhee ticket seemed assured of victory. Han Tai Hong, a politician believed to have Rhee's support, was ahead with 707,543 of the two million vice presidential ballots counted. Not too far behind was his bitter rival, Lee Bum Suk with 536,857. Lee is former home minister and served as Rhee's strong man in the May-June political crisis.

Argentina Apologizes For Bombing

Buenos Aires (AP)—The Argentine government has formally apologized to the United States for the July 9 bombing of the U.S. Information Service headquarters here. It was learned yesterday.

A Foreign Ministry note delivered to the U.S. Embassy Tuesday deplored the bombing. It also apologized for another incident July 25, when rocks were thrown through a USIS headquarters window.

The note, which replied to a U.S. protest filed July 14, said steps were being taken to prevent recurrence of such acts and that police were trying to track down the culprits.

The July 9 explosion shattered the windows and ceilings of USIS headquarters.

State Trooper Traces Most Motor Accidents To Speeding, Reckless Driving In Safety Talk

Speeding and reckless driving were pointed out as principal causes for motor accidents on highways by Pto. John W. Kistler, attached to the Bloomsburg State Police barracks, at the Kiwanis Club meeting in the Penn-Strood Hotel yesterday afternoon. J. Richard Altomose, program chairman, presented the speaker.

In a safety talk, Officer Kistler revealed that in 1951 there were 123,000 accidents, 65,000 persons were injured and 16,024 were killed, also four times as many children were killed or injured than by polo.

The speaker declared that speeding was the main cause of accidents. This was true of the Pennsylvania super-highway where 32 were killed this year up to the end of May.

Trooper Kistler mentioned types of reckless driving which result in many crackups of motor vehicles. Examples of improper passing were brought out as well as the high toll taken in carelessness at intersections. Making improper right and left turns and failure to give signals of intentions were also pointed out. Bicycle riders are governed by the same regulations as other vehicles, the speaker said.

Trooper Kistler answered a number of questions at the conclusion of his talk.

There will be an inter-club meeting at Glen Brook, Country Club next week with golf in the afternoon. Quite a number of clubs will participate in the competition on the local course. Elwood Hintze is in charge of arrangements.

A meeting will be held at Paradise Lutheran Assn. Wednesday, Aug. 27. Representatives of the clubs of the 12th Division, including Stroudsburg will meet with the Allentown club at the Americas Hotel this afternoon to nominate a candidate for lieutenant governor, who will be voted on at the Pennsylvania District meeting at Scranton next month.

Merle C. Ostrom, song leader, was assisted by a quartet composed of George Savidge, President Gilbert L. Smrz, George T. Robinson and Rev. Seba H. Hamm, of Bangor.

Visiting Kiwanians welcomed by President Smrz were: Charles P. Ranier, Hammonton, N.J.; Fred J. Beste Jr., Lock Haven, Md.; William Schruam, Bensonhurst, N.Y.; Harry J. Cooper, Youngstown, O.; Harold O. Bates, Elizabeth, N.J.; Paul S. Gelovick, Chambersburg, and Rev. Hamm, Bangor; also Carl Bush, Uniontown.

Dr. Eisenhower Suggests Course To Foster Peace

State College, Pa.—A college course with world peace as its ultimate goal was suggested last night by Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the Pennsylvania State College.

The one-year course would be open to college seniors only. In proposing the course, Dr. Eisenhower told the Penn State Institute on World Affairs and International Understanding that students would analyze current efforts to ward peace.

Dr. Eisenhower added, "with this intellectual frame work initially established in college I believe most graduates would have the basis for judging all new proposals for international action with greater certainty of wise decisions than now characterizes so much of our individual thinking."

EDC Nations Fall Behind Lisbon Goals

By J. M. Roberts Jr., Associated Press News Analyst
"Offshore purchases" is gobble-dygook for the system by which the United States, instead of shipping arms to her European allies, gives them the money to place orders with their own factories.

It helps them build up their own arms industries, which would be important in war. It helps them raise or maintain their standards of living, which increases the stability of friendly governments. It helps maintain the balance between rearmament and consumer production in the United States and so combats inflation.

But there are congressional rules and regulations about it, just as for all forms of foreign aid, and the government just cannot say that it will take some tanks out of the American program and put them into the French program. And the French program has run into a snag.

France, rescued from German occupation only to find herself involved in an expensive war in Indochina which shows no signs of abating, has been on a precarious economic footing all the time.

When the other nations began setting up the European rearmament program she agreed to do her part. At the Lisbon conference her officials promised to set up a four-billion-dollar defense budget, turning the guns and divisions over to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, if the United States would give them 800 million dollars in military and economic aid and agree to place 365 million worth of contracts with French arms plants over a three-year period. She got the 800 million but the other had to await congressional approval and could only be handled, under the American system, on a year to year basis.

Congress cut the administration's request for foreign military aid from $4,100,000,000 to $3,100,000,000. France, was told she could have 168 million of the 365 million requested, and that we'd see what could be done about the rest later.

France went up in the air. Maybe they'd have to pull out of Indochina. Maybe they'd have to drop the idea of entering a European army and co-operating with Germany in the European Defense Community. They'd have to reduce their arms program, unemployment might threaten the government, and it would not be able to balance its budget without new taxes.

Actually, there was a lot of politics involved. The nations are vying with each other to see how much they can get of the reduced American aid slice. France may be doing some log rolling for support on other matters, such as her dispute over Germany about the Saar and the details of EDC.

It's An Invasion! And, Boy, Do We Love It! Hollywood's New Imports Pretty, Talented

By Armand Archard
Central Press Correspondent

Hollywood—There may be a lot of frozen movie money in Europe, but there's nothing cold about the current crop of foreign beauties now working in Glamorville.

The influx of extra-territorial glamour girls have already felt the pinch—in availability of roles, that is. The furriners were limited to their own shores during the war and post-war years, but they're making up for lost time now.

The last few seasons have seen many a producer scanning the European countryside and the results of their ventures are now apparent. Our Marshall Plan cousins are here in Hollywood and it looks like a lot will be here to stay.

All of them are getting the full Movieville treatment — clothes, cars, English lessons and big publicity campaigns. Some of them have been so well indoctrinated in ballyhoo, they now believe their own publicity department biographies, which are as exciting as many of the films in which they'll appear.

Of course, many of these girls have truly suffered through the in which her balance of power with relation to Germany is a constant matter of worry.

war years. Many have been told they did to make for more interesting backgrounds.

Let's take a look at some of the invaders and how (they say) they were discovered:

Ava Norring: A Hungarian, married a United States Army officer and came to this country where she hit a magazine cover. She divorced her soldier-husband after a short while in the USA.

Hildegard Neff: She was a film cartoonist in Germany when she was discovered in that studio's commissary. She made films abroad, then married, as did Norring, an officer, and came here. Again like the preceding actress, she was divorced in America.

Ursula Thiess: Came to Hollywood's attention via the magazine cover route. She has two children living in her native Germany and is trying to bring them over here.

Dawn Addams: Although she was born in England, Dawn came to Hollywood when in her teens, with her father and stepmother, Arline Judge. She attended Beverly Hills high school, but returned to England when they divorced. A few years later she was discovered in a British play.

Pier Angeli, who also has a twin sister-actress, Mariella Pavan, was discovered in an Italian art school. She was painting, not modeling.

Anna Maria Alberghetti: GI's in Italy discovered her voice.

Leslie Caron: One of France's top ballerinas, was found by Gene Kelly and immediately given the lead opposite him in "American in Paris." Quite appropriate.

Zsa Zsa Gabor, can hardly be described as being found. She let the world know about her existence early in life in Hungary via her famous mother, Jolie, and sisters Magda and Eva.

Suzanne Cloutier: A cousin from Canada, was found in a lunchroom at Grand Central station in New York.

Anita Ekberg: Was Miss Sweden in 1951. She visited the USA last year but nothing happened so she went home. Soon afterwards her studio realized what had slipped through their fingers and they sent for her. Nothing happened. She was about to go home again when the studio signed her.

The girls have been attracting attention in their own right ways. Ava Norring, for example is known for her unimpressive massacre of the English language. For example: "I was educated in a convent—you know, with nuns."

Hildegard Neff stole some of Marilyn Monroe's thunder for a few editions when she admitted, freely, that just before coming here she had appeared in the nude for a German film, "The Sinner."

Leslie Caron did O.K. after arriving in California. She's now married to George Horne, scion of the meat-packing family. He is a pop musician also.

Zsa Zsa Gabor steals most of the thunder from the other girls by her almost daily public statements on the status of her marriage to George Sanders. She is quick with a clever quote. And those big innocent eyes conceal a trigger-like brain which is working constantly for little Zsa Zsa. She has shuttled from one film to another without a stop in the past year.

For some strange reason, our movie moguls failed to discover an equal amount of male talent abroad. Only two leading men have found a haven in Hollywood. They are Stewart Granger (who preceded wife Jean Simmons over here) and Vittorio Gassman.

Hollywood can't take credit for Vittorio's presence. Little Shelley Winters captured him single-handed and brought him to the film capital's attention. Producers are thanking her. He's an accomplished actor.

With few exceptions, the newcomers are planning to take out citizenship papers. They all hope, of course, to become stars. Whether a Garbo, Rainer, Bergman, La-Marr or Deitrich is among them is to be seen.

Meanwhile, they're fun to watch.

Soil Agency Supervises Drainage Job

The soil conservation district is going underground in Monroe County—but it's all on the up and up.

The new technique aims at funneling off damaging surface water in the gravelly layer which usually lies below the clay subsoil.

Now being installed on the Henry Kruger farm near Kresgeville, the sump-hole method is believed being tried in Monroe County for the first time. It is in use as a soil conservation method in other districts, however.

A steam shovel scoops out a deep hole about eight by four feet, and to whatever depth is necessary to reach the gravelly, porous stratum under the clay.

The hole is then filled with rock and stone to within three feet from the surface. The last three feet are filled with loose dirt to permit farming across the hole.

The run-off water collects at this low spot in the field, seeps down into the hole, and instead of remaining there is carried off in the porous layer.

Kruger has reported considerable success with this method.

Donald deOtte, soil conservation district chairman, said Allie Correll, Kruger and Adam Kuehner—whose farm lies west of Kunkletown—are installing open drainage ditches in both crop and pasture land. Most of the dirt removed from these ditches by back-hoe is being used to fill smaller wet kettle holes scattered throughout the fields. Two dump trucks are used to speed the hauling process.

DeOtte said power shovels need be used only for the larger type surface water drainage projects. Ordinarily, much conservation and drainage work can be accomplished with the use of standard farm tractors and equipment, he said.

Pedestrian Injured In East Borough

Mike Keiser, 47, of 29 W. Broad St., East Stroudsburg, was injured at 12:02 p. m. yesterday when he crossed N. Courtland St. in the borough and apparently ran into the side of a car.

East Stroudsburg police said the driver was Arthur Raymond Bozett, 26, Shawnee Inn. Bozett drove Keiser to the General Hospital where he was admitted for observation, police said.

The accident occurred a short distance south of East Stroudsburg High School. The point of collision was the right front fender or headlight, police said. There were no arrests.

Driver Pays Fine After Hearing

Fine and costs of $17 were paid last night by John W. Gearhart, Stroudsburg RD 2, who was found guilty of a stop sign and a red light violation at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Herbert G. Bonser.

The hearing was at the East Stroudsburg police station. Police arrested Gearhart in East Stroudsburg July 23.

Pennsylvania has 97,000 miles of highways. They can be happy miles of interesting summer touring if you take time to drive safely!

This vast and beautiful state is criss-crossed with roads engineered for safe driving. They are marked to guide you safely to your destination. Follow these rules and you will have no trouble at all:

Obey our posted speed limits. If the road is strange to you—drive with extra care.

Be guided by our caution signs. Curves...hills...passing and no-passing zones—all are marked. Come to a complete halt at STOP signs—then proceed when the road is clear.

At night, drive more slowly than usual. If you are tired, drive at a slower pace—or pull off the road and rest.

Use our special road rests when you want fully to enjoy the scenery.

Have a happy journey!

Mount Pocono May Annex 'Knob' In Response To Petition From Residents

Mount Pocono—This borough is preparing to annex the section known as "The Knob," in response to a petition by Knob residents.

At present the Knob area involved is in Paradise Township. The section is bounded on the west by borough property, on the north by Paradise road, and on the south and east by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad tracks.

Some 20 residents believed to constitute 100 per cent of the residents in the section involved—signed the petition which asked the borough council to annex the Knob.

The petition was presented to council at this week's meeting and was approved. No action was taken, however, pending return of the borough's solicitor, Elmer D. Christine, from California.

The usual course of action would be for the borough to adopt an ordinance including the section. The Knob would then become part of the borough after the next election.

Another petition presented was a request by eight property owners on Pocono road asking council to ordain the road. The request was approved. The 400 feet of road involved runs from Elm St. to Monroe Ave.

MRS. OLAF J. PEDERSEN of Stroudsburg, Eastern Pennsylvania Adviser on Women's Activities of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Mrs. Pedersen Named to Key Post in State March of Dimes

New York, N. Y.—Mrs. Olaf Pedersen, of Stroudsburg, has been appointed Eastern Pennsylvania Adviser on Women's Activities of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. It was announced yesterday by the March of Dimes organization. She will be closely associated with Mrs. Charles Atwell, 513 Tonette Street, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Charles Augur of Clearfield, advisers respectively for Western and Central Pennsylvania.

Assuming this volunteer post at the time of the year when rising polio incidence threatens the welfare of many communities, Mrs. Pedersen will direct her initial efforts towards channeling factual and reassuring information about this disease to the general public. She will also seek wider volunteer participation in the education and patient care programs sponsored by the National Foundation. Working closely with women's clubs, organizations and health and welfare groups, Mrs. Pedersen will help coordinate community preparedness and polio awareness measures. The three Pennsylvania advisers will coordinate their efforts to help see that activities and services of local National Foundation chapters are widely known and better understood throughout the state.

A civic leader and active participant in community affairs for several years, Mrs. Pedersen is a member of the board of the Monroe County Federation of Women's Clubs and first vice-president of the Monroe County Council of Republican Women. She is a member of the state board of directors of the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults and secretary of the Monroe County Crippled Children's Society. Mrs. Pedersen also serves on the state board of directors of the Pennsylvania League for Planned Parenthood and on the national field committee of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America.

Mrs. Pedersen has participated in many voluntary health programs, aiding the March of Dimes and serving as a captain for the Cancer Society. She is chairman of Nurses' Aides for Monroe County, a Gray Lady and member of the Motor Corps for the American Red Cross. She was graduated from Stroudsburg State Teachers College in 1941.

Summer Residents Celebrate 50th Anniversary Here

Rev. and Mrs. Charles B. Bowman, of Allentown, who are spending the summer at Paradise Falls yesterday celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with a dinner at Linden Court, Sciota.

They have three children, Charles Bowman, of Allentown, Harold Bowman, of New York; and a daughter, Marguerite, wife of Rev. F. Lewis Walley, pastor of Asbury Methodist Church. The family together with the five grandchildren, joined in the family celebration.

Mrs. Bowman was professor of economics and sociology at Muhlenberg College until he retired in 1942. They are both members of Christ Lutheran Church where Mrs. Bowman organized and served as the first teacher of the Mothers' Circle. Mr. Bowman supplies many Lutheran pulpits.

Dorcas Class Friday

Portland — Mrs. Arthur Shoemaker will entertain the Dorcas class of the local Baptist Church Friday night at her home. Meeting is scheduled to begin at 8.

Auction Part Of Church Bazaar At Swiftwater

Swiftwater — An auction at 10:30 p. m. will climax a night of many interesting features at the annual bazaar of the Swiftwater WSCS, this Thursday, August 7, from 4 to 11:30 p. m. which, if rainy will be held in the hall, or if clear on the hall grounds.

An evening concert will be given by the VFW band of Stroudsburg, and a picnic supper will be served. Refreshments will be available at the stands, and a grab bag for the children as well as a parcel post sale will keep the interest at a high point. Needlework, home-made cakes, pies, jellies and candies will be on sale. The public is invited to attend.

County 4-H Clubs Picnic Despite Rain

Despite the rain yesterday, there were 110 4-H Club members present for the annual picnic held at the West End Fair Grounds at Gilbert for the four agricultural clubs and the six home economics clubs in the county.

There were also 25 local leaders and parents to watch the fun, which was transferred from outdoors to the exhibition building, but which lost none of its excitement by the exchange. During a lull in the storm, the boys held a shortened baseball game.

Indoors, each group presented stunts and games, musical contests and a mirth-provoking "Truth or Consequence" routine. A short dash to the dining hall brought them to the picnic dinner, which was followed by an indoor "campfire" program.

Arthur Liff, county agent, and James Connolly, assistant, with Miss Margaret MacLaren, director of the home economics extension service, were in charge of the county-wide picnic, revived for the first time after several years lapse.

Dames of Malta Learn of Injury To Their Sovereign

News of a serious automobile accident involving Gertrude Blackmore, Sovereign Protector of the Dames of Malta on the Continent of America has been received here by Mrs. Maude Walton, of Colbert St., keeper of the Archives of St. John's Sister, Dames of Malta.

Mrs. Blackmore was scheduled to preside at the golden Anniversary of the Zenodacia session planned to be held the week of September 8 in Cleveland, Ohio. Many of the members of the Stroudsburg sisterhood were planning to attend the sessions for which elaborate plans have been made.

Just what effect the accident of Mrs. Blackmore and her family will have on the Zenodacia has not been announced. Her husband, who was also in the accident, died a few days later. Mrs. Blackmore suffered a broken leg and now has pneumonia.

Both she and Mrs. Jane Riffer, a member of the Dames of Malta finance committee, who was a passenger in the Blackmore car, are in serious condition in the Sharon hospital. A niece, also a passenger, escaped injury.

Shawnee Cubs Have Picnic On Delaware

Shawnee-Cub Pack 80 of Shawnee held a picnic on Tuesday at the home of Cubmaster and Mrs. Richard Lee along the Delaware. The den mothers, Mrs. John Heller, Mrs. Edward George and Mrs. Richard Lee had arranged the outing.

The cubs enjoyed swimming, archery, baseball and a wiener and marshmallow roast.

Cubs present were: Joel Huffman, Jimmy Park, Johnny Balmoo, Johnnie Fetherman, Michael Heller, George Fuller, and George Walters. Laird Patterson and Dudley King are also members of the pack but were unable to attend.

Edward George and young Eddie George also attended the party.

PM Club Meets At Knerr Home

Swiftwater — The PM club of Swiftwater enjoyed an evening of chatter on Thursday when they were entertained at the home of Mrs. Russell Knerr.

Plans were made for a dinner party in the near future, and Mrs. John Lindstedt invited the group to her home on August 28.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess to: Mrs. Willard Webster, Mrs. Carl Hamblin, Mrs. Norman Farnese, Mrs. David Nelson, Mrs. Willard Tyreman, Mrs. Paul Falor, Mrs. Charles Hackenberg, Mrs. John Lindstedt, Mrs. Merlin Rutt, Mrs. John Hamblin, and a guest Mrs. Joseph Parsons.

The 4-H Clubs weren't waiting for fall. They had themselves a real picnic yesterday with the rain not dampening the fun at all. In fact, it was right cozy in the exhibition hall, they tell me.

Hot Weather Hints May Help Assure Baby's Comfort

One of the most helpless victims of overly hot weather is the baby in the household.

The Medical Society of Pennsylvania and its Monroe County branch have come through with several timely tips on relief for the child still in swaddling clothes, which, the units feel, may be invaluable to the busy mothers.

A primary effect of the hot weather on the child is a common rash which often appears first on the neck, face and other parts of the body.

Usually identified as "prickly heat" the rash is most often due to over-caution on the part of the mother in dressing the child.

On a hot day, the Society says, the infant needs only a diaper and perhaps a cotton shirt or band.

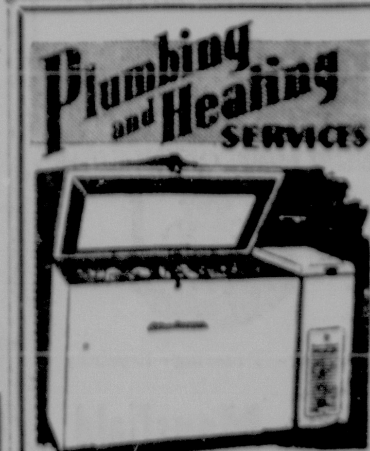

In the event the baby already has a case of prickly heat, however, the medical unit advises putting a small amount of bicarbonate of soda in the bath to soothe the itching and burning.

Sponging the area covered by the rash should be done several times daily, using one teaspoonful of bicarb to one pint of water, the Society says.

Another relief measure during hot weather may be the cutting down of the amount of food taken by the child.

Solid foods, especially, may be cut down and cool boiled water offered every hour or oftener, except just before meals.

Protection from the sun's rays is, of course, of great importance. The infant should not be exposed to the summer sun for too long a period, since possible sunburn is extremely dangerous. The

Wesleyan Guild Honors Mrs. Schlupp

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Robert Raseley, Claremont Ave., on Tuesday night with a buffet supper on the lawn.

After the supper a gift was presented to Mrs. Robert Schlupp by Mrs. Phillip Lee, guild president, on behalf of the members. Mrs. Schlupp is moving to Poughkeepsie, N.Y., where her husband is now employed.

Present were Mrs. Robert Schlupp, Mrs. Robert Widmer, Mrs. Harold Sandt, Mrs. Floyd Kellogg, Mrs. William Henry, Mrs. Parker Riday, Mrs. Harold Carlton, Mrs. George Sebring Jr., Mrs. Phillip Lee, Miss Sandra Selwood, Mrs. Robert Raseley, Mrs. William Davis, guild advisor; and Mrs. Roger C. Stinson.

Akers Family 24-Strong Hold Picnic Supper

Mr. and Mrs. Friend Akers with their children, sons-in-law, daughters-in-law, and grandchildren, twenty-four strong, had a supper picnic at the East Stroudsburg playground Sunday, August 3.

The group honored the birthdays of Harold Akers, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Decker, and Mrs. Catherine Fish.

The picnic was in honor, also, of the presence of Donald Richard Quick, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Friend Akers, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Quick of Elizabeth Street, East Stroudsburg. Richard had trained originally with the Army medical corp, but has been with the Navy since October. He had to return to Norfolk, Va. Sunday night.

Later in August he will go to Africa. His boat has made two trips to Cuba this summer; once to convey over tons of sand, Richard is in the engine room of the boat.

Boone Turns Hobby Into Industry With Promising Future

By James R. Gaffney

A mere baby in Monroe County's industrial world, Custom Craft Products at Mountainhome shows great promise of developing into a mature and profitable business for its owner, Emmett E. Boone Jr.

Entering the world April 15 last, Boone's business was the outgrowth of a hobby and its first home is in the center of Mountainhome in a small frame building on the east side of the road.

Boone was long affiliated with the hotel business. Four and a half years prior to the opening of his new establishment were spent at Buck Hill. From 1932 to 1937 he performed similar duties in hotels on Long Island, N.Y. During World War Two Boone joined the Marines and was in the Pacific Theater with the famed First Marine Division.

Early American reproductions and modern adaptations of wood work are specialties for Boone who does custom work. The finish on the products unless otherwise specified, is done in hand-rubbed mellow, warm-brown, old pine, which lends itself to combinations with any type of decorative scheme. The finish is alcohol resistant and subsequent waxing or polishing in the home adds to its lustre.

All tables are dovetailed together and pieces assembled with glue for maximum strength. Boone guarantees to refund the purchase price on any item which fails to meet the expectations of the purchaser, if returned in its original condition.

Eventually Boone expects to branch out in a mail order business. He noted he will begin an advertising program in the nation's largest magazines devoted to homes and furnishings, in the near future.

Most of the machinery utilized in production is new and includes a lathe, bench, radial, band and jig saws, drill press, bench sander and grinder and spray booth.

Boone uses knotty pine as the standard wood but also utilizes cherry, walnut and mahogany on custom orders. He designs or copies almost every piece of furniture and can examine furnishings from a magazine, museum or even in the home and reproduce the same article in his shop from sketches he makes.

Recently a Jersey City, N.J. woman wanted a secretary's desk similar to that in the home of the former state governor, Walter E. Edge. Boone made a special trip to Gov. Edge's residence, sketched the desk and reproduced it in his shop to the exact likeness.

Just two weeks ago he had an unusual request to make a set of tables and chairs for a couple who spotted what they wanted on a magazine cover. Using the photo to work with, Boone began the tedious process and soon turned out the desired set, much to the liking of the customer.

Most of the wood used by Boone is secured locally but on occasions he imports. Aside from a contract to make wooden junction boxes for subways in New York City, which are made from maple and white ash for the battery cases, Boone's work is on order. When the contract business extends itself Boone expects to expand his operations and possibly will issue an employment call.

One of Boone's most unique products is a radio cabinet. He installs a radio in an authentic old wall chest with two top drawers and the four bottom drawers fold down revealing the radio.

Other unusual items include a toy pistol rack for the young cowboy and cowgirl; cobbler's bench, an adaptation of an old Massachusetts bench with leather seat and space for magazines that could be used as either a coffee table or fire side bench; miniature hutch table for a child's seat with

Among arrivals in New York aboard the lined United States is Elfride Haug, 29, of Stuttgart, Germany. She entered the country under the quota system. The fraulein will live with her sister in York, Pa.

Shawnee

G. Willard Stetler celebrated his birthday on Sunday.

Mrs. Joseph Seeds Jr. and daughter, Robin, who are spending the summer at the Edgemere Club, Silver Lake, were luncheon guests of Mrs. Frank Sheble and daughter, Miss Adelaide Sheble and Mrs. Geoffrey Stamm, on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Killough Jr. and daughter, Peggy Ann, of Chesnut Hill, Pa., visited Mr. and Mrs. Stamm over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Sittig left on Tuesday for Cambridge, Md., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Edward Garbach for a few days.

Hedi Dresdner returned home on Sunday from a two week plane trip through the West Indies. Mrs. Philip Dresdner and her infant daughter, Robin, also arrived the same day to visit Mr. and Mrs. Karl G. Dresdner.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald S. Worthington returned on Monday from the Mink Pond Club, Pike County, to spend a week at their Shawnee house.

Mr. and Mrs. James Crass entertained at a picnic supper and swimming party on Tuesday night at the Shawnee Inn swimming pool in honor of their children, Barbara, Jimmy, Betsy and Geoffrey.

If the success of business in its early stage is any indication of the future, Boone should extend his facilities before long and probably branch out to become a leading producer in the county.

Art Exhibit Being Held At Buck Hill

An outstanding art event of the Pocono Mountains this season is the 20th annual purchase prize exhibition of the Buck Hill Art Association being held in the East Room of The Inn at Buck Hill Falls until August 20 in which 60 of America's best-known artists, many of whose works hang in the country's important art galleries are represented. A distinctive feature of the Buck Hill show is that members of the association are to select, by popular vote, one of the canvases in the current show to add to their permanent collection.

Also to be enjoyed by art lovers who visit the current purchase prize exhibition is the association's permanent collection which has been gathered together during the past 20 years and includes such well-known names as Julien Binford, Armit Blais, Charles Burchfield, Nicola Cikovsky, Jan Corbino, Gladys Rockmore Davis, Adolf Dehn, Stephen Etnier, Jerry Farnsworth, Joe Jones, Doris Lee, Walda Peirce, Hobson Pittman, Iver Rose, Doris Rosenthal, Helen Sawyer, John Sharp, Raphael Sayer, Eugene Speicher, Margit Varga.

Among the artists of northeastern Pennsylvania who were invited to participate and are represented each by one painting are: Walter Emerson Baum, Ada R. Ceccere, Edna Palmer Englehardt, J. Havard MacPherson, Bruce Mitchell, Frank Schoonover, John J. Sobel.

Art critic of the Philadelphia Bulletin, Walter Emerson Baum, reviewed the show and commented upon some of the canvases as follows:

"Eugene Speicher's portrait of his now famous model Red Moore, William Thon's strange study of a tree, Henry Mattson's powerful interpretation of a dark sea beating against rocks and Adolf Dehn's panoramic vista of farm lands in Lancaster County are a few canvases on which prize honors could well be bestowed.

Just as noteworthy are Carl Hall's window glimpse of an Oregon countryside, Stephen Etnier's "Lazy-by-the-Sea," Margit Varga's "City at Night," Helen Sawyer's tropical landscape, "The Bayous," Sigmund Kozlov's winter landscape, Joa Cobino's "The Adventurers," Charles Burchfield's "September Afternoon" and Cecile Belle's phantasm with horses titled "February."

All of Monroe County is invited to enjoy the exhibition and other works of these artists. As quoted from the preface of the exhibition catalogue, "Here are the towering names in American art; names known from coast to coast, and in presenting them we trust that they will broaden your horizon of art, increase your knowledge, and give you pleasure."

Robert Sebring, formerly of Monroe County, arrived from Texas Sunday to visit his sister, Mrs. Roy Holland Sebring, A/3c with the U. S. Air Force, has been in service over a year. He flew from Texas to Massachusetts and hitchhiked from there to Water Gap. He has a 15-day furlough.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Freeman and Mrs. Emma Ruff of Bangor and Mrs. Clarence Newhart of Delaware Water Gap, were Sunday callers at the home of Mrs. Stella Bising and Mrs. Eva Drake.

Mrs. Stella Ridgeway is serving as night matron at East Stroudsburg State College until September 1. She is taking the place of Mrs. Martha Starnes, the regular matron.

Many friends greeted Rev. and Mrs. Rowland White and son John when Mr. White preached in the Presbyterian Church, Arlington Williams and family from Stroudsburg and John Heller and family of Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, were among the number. Mr. White spoke on the topic "Quo Vadis, Whither Goest Thou?"

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Baker and son Douglas spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Baker of Woodlynne, N. J.

Miss Rachel Hall of Easton and Mrs. Martha Barnin and daughter, Miss Alice Barnin of Vinestown, N. J., were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hay Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Hay took the ladies to the Stroudsburg playground to enjoy the Custer reunion which was being held there.

William Barton has completed the foundation of the five room bungalow he is building. It is located on High Street, across from the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ames.

Mrs. Otto Gehm entertained for school friends, the Misses Marion and Louise, Dockter of Scranton, over Sunday. Mr. Gehm was host to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ost, of Astoria, Long Island, N. Y.

Before yesterday's rain washed out the long awaited Monroe County Softball League contest between the Eagles and Union Printers, Bill Crooks, a main cog in the Eagles' attack, had banged out nine consecutive hits, four against Blair A. C., in the second game, last Sunday and five against Ronson, in a circuit contest held on Monday. The new bleachers at Gordon fields field will afford the largest and best seating capacity in the history of football at the Stroudsburg field. However, they apparently won't do anything to help baseball at the local ball yard. In fact, they may hinder the diamond sport.

Ray Steele, former East Stroudsburg High athletic star and now the number one pitcher with Bushkill, of the Pocono Mountains League, is scheduled to work out with the Philadelphia A's today, prior to the doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox at Shibe Park. The number four position may not be decided until the final day of the season next Monday, when Stockertown invades Giffels field, to do battle with Pocono A. C. These two clubs and East Bangor are currently fighting for the final playoff berth.

Jim Myers, newly appointed Lehigh Valley football coach, will settle down in his new home town next Tuesday, to take care of pre-training problems and then open the actual conditioning grind on Monday, August 18. Myers plans to live at the Mayes Guest House, on Mahoning St., just a few blocks from the Lehigh Valley gridiron. Stroudsburg High opens its season against Lehigh this year on Friday, September 12. The game was moved from Thanksgiving Day to make room for the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg gridiron battle.

Metro Yurchak, of Nesquehoning, has been named a teacher and assistant football coach at Brookville High school, where Ben Jones will be returning for his third year, after two successful previous campaigns. Jones is a graduate of Stroudsburg High and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and is currently doing work on his Doctor's degree at New York University. Yurchak is a graduate of Lock Haven State Teachers College. Francis Luchnick, Shamokin, was recently added to the Palmerton high football coaching staff to give head mentor Joe Foran three assistants for the coming Lehigh Valley League season. Luchnick will also serve as a commercial and junior high mathematics teacher.

Willard "Wo" Leopold, a former umpire in the now defunct North Atlantic League and a resident of Lehigh, is rounding out his first campaign of calling plays in the class "D" Kitty League, where Frank Radler is managing the Union City, Tenn., entry. Leopold worked in the NAL when Radler was the popular pilot of the Stroudsburg Poconos. Frank now has his Union City club in third place, after a very slow start.

Danny Carnevale. Night will be celebrated at Scranton Stadium next Wednesday, when the former North Atlantic League pilot brings his Schenectady club into Scranton for an Eastern League contest. Carnevale, who played shortstop at the time, managed the Carbondale entry in the NAL in 1948. Jim Young, who used to broadcast the home and away games of the Lehigh Valley Chis, when the NAL was still in action, will remain in the service until 1954. It has been learned Jim is with the air corps in Japan at the present time.

Dick Pritchard, former outstanding football and baseball star at ESSC, was hit in the neck by a ground ball while covering shortstop for Rosco, of the Blue Mountain League, at Giffels field on Tuesday. However, the likeable, hard playing infielder remained in the contest. Reports ranking the rounds indicate that the Pittsburgh Pirates are showing more than a passing interest in Leonard Castellucci, smooth fielding Rosco outfielder. Castellucci is a former football and baseball star at Bangor High.

George Condrick, one of the mainstays on the Rochester, International League, pitching staff, dropped two mound decisions during the past week, making his record read as of now, nine wins and five setbacks. George lost a 5-4 starting assignment against Baltimore, allowing eight hits, fanning two and walking one batter. The former member of the Stroudsburg Poconos was also charged with the 13-11 loss to the same Baltimore club in a relief role. George gave up four hits in one inning, and three runs, while striking out one and not walking any batters. George makes his winter home in Tannersville.

Ken Loeffler, La Salle College basketball coach and one of the headliners at the recent Eastern Pennsylvania Scholastic Coaches Clinic, at ESSC, has been credited with talking Fran O'Malley, former St. Rose High, of Carbondale, into attending LaSalle instead of St. Bonaventure, as the youngster had previously planned.

Mrs. Shafer Wins Glen Brook Country Club Title

Mrs. Rusk Bows On Sixteenth Hole

Mrs. George Shafer won the women's golf title at Glen Brook Country Club for the second straight year yesterday, when she took the measure of Mrs. William Rusk, four-and-two in a rain drenched match over the rolling Glen Brook fairways.

Playing steady golf from start to finish, Mrs. Shafer led by a four-up margin at the end of nine holes and was never behind after winning the first and second holes. The links rivals tied the 10th hole and Mrs. Rusk rallied to capture the 11th, 12th and 13th holes to narrow her deficit to one hole.

However, Mrs. Shafer, determined to make it two straight, fought back to win the 14th, 15th and 16th holes to end the match at that point, with two holes still remaining on the agenda.

Rain began falling on the 11th tee and continued throughout the remainder of the match and the two rivals sloshed through the water and rain with a brand of good golf under the circumstances.

Yesterday's match was a repeat performance of last year's when Mrs. Shafer won over Mrs. Rusk by a two-and-one count. However, last year's championship struggle was played without the hindrance of rain.

Mrs. Shafer will be honored along with Chet Ogradski at Sunday's championship banquet to be held at the Glen Brook club, with Harry Obitz, head pro at Shawnee, serving as guest speaker.

Hungarian Athletes Quit Native Land

Stockholm, Sweden (AP)—Nine Hungarian Olympic athletes have refused to return to their Communist-ruled homeland and have taken refuge in Western legations at Helsinki, Finland, the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter reported last night.

It said the nine dropped out of sight one by one over last weekend in a smartly executive maneuver designed to avoid drawing attention to their flight.

Their disappearance was discovered Tuesday when Hungary's team leader tried to get his squad together for a post-Olympic tour of Finland, the paper said.

Fearing more desertions, the report from Helsinki said, the Communist coaches called off the tour and chartered two airplanes which flew the rest of Hungary's crack Olympic squad back behind the Iron Curtain yesterday.

Not Identified

The missing team members were not identified immediately.

Hungary's Olympic team finished third in the unofficial team standings immediately behind the United States and Russia.

The reported desertion of the nine athletes from Red Hungary followed by a day the disappearance of a member of the Romanian team after he expressed unwillingness to return to his Communist-run homeland.

The Romanian, Panal Calas, who placed sixth in the Olympic pistol shooting tournament, is believed to have taken refuge in one of the Western power's legations in Helsinki.

He had been arrested by Finnish police after a street fight with team coaches who were trying to send him home. He was released later by police who said his permit to stay in Finland was valid until the end of August.

The Hungarian team took 14 gold medals in piling up a team score of 308 as compared to 610 for the U.S. and 553 and one-half for Soviet Russia in its first try at the Olympic contests. Hungary's was a spectacular showing considering its population is only 9,250,000.

Long Fly Decides Legion Contest

Philadelphia, (AP)—Walter Anderson, Philadelphia, drove a long fly ball to left to score Bill Curry, Swarthmore, giving the "Phillies" a 9-8 decision over the "Athletics" in the American Legion Junior All-Star baseball game yesterday at Shibe Park.

Most Valuable

The "Phillies" trailed 8-0 in the first five innings due primarily to the pitching of Elvin Pfauitz, a right hander from Ephrata, Pa. Pfauitz pitched the first three innings for the "Athletics." He was chosen the game's most valuable player.

Anderson started the "Phillies" come back with a two-run inside homer in the sixth.

Paige Blanks Tigers, 1-0

St. Louis (AP)—A bases-loaded single by Bob Nieman in the 12th inning gave durable "Satch" Paige a 1-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers last night as he made his second starting appearance of the season for the St. Louis Browns.

Collins, Butler Tangle In Final Round Of National Left-Handed Tourney At Shawnee

Shawnee-on-Delaware—A total of 36 holes and Jack Butler, a Veterans Administration official from Atlanta, Ga., stand between Ross Collins, Arkansas AAM athletic director, and a second straight Left-Handed Golfers Association championship, as the two clash in the final round of the four-day tournament here at Shawnee Inn and Country Club today.

Butler, a 26-year-old southpaw, will be out to break Collins' hold on the title over the tough 6,686-yard Shawnee course which features a par of 72.

Collins, who stands over six feet reached the finals by defeating Nelson Cullenward, of San Francisco, one-up in the quarter finals and Jack Wilkinson, Tyler, Texas five and four in the semi-finals yesterday.

Butler, who stands five feet one inch and who has proven a veritable "Jack the Giant Killer" disposed of the six feet two-inch Bill Guyne, Knoxville, Tenn., co-medalist, in the quarter finals yesterday morning, and John Minco, Cleveland one-up in the semi-finals yesterday afternoon.

Both Collins and Butler can thank putts by opponents that rimmed the cup on the 18th and rolled away to give them victories and eventually put them in the finals.

Collins capitalized on one putt in his quarter finals match with Cullenward when the latter three-putted the 18th while the defending champion won the hole with a bogie four. He then went on to defeat Wilkinson in the semi-finals.

Butler was 1-down at the turn in the semi-finals match with Minco and went three down when the latter won the 10th and 11th. The diminutive Georgia player took the 13th, 14th and 15th with par scores to even the match and won on the 18th when Minco rimmed a 12-inch putt.

Senators Edge Yanks Behind Masterson, 6-4

Washington, (AP)—Walter Masterson held the New York Yankees to six hits and struck out 11 last night as Washington defeated the American League leaders, 6-4.

The defeat whittled the Yankees' lead over second place Cleveland to three games.

Schaeffer Wild Harry Schaeffer, rookie southpaw who received his start in professional baseball with the Stroudsburg Poconos, opened on the hill for the Yankees and was troubled by wildness once again, as he has since the American League leaders recalled the thin moundsman from Kansas City.

During the six full innings in which Schaeffer served, he allowed only four hits, but walked seven while retiring five batters on strikes.

Ostrowski and Johnny Schmitz both came on the scene in the seventh, with Ostrowski being charged with the loss. The count was tied at 1-1 at the end of the first, but Washington went ahead in the third, 3-1, only to have the Yankees pick up three in the fourth and lead by a 4-3 count as late as the top of the seventh.

Schaeffer's record remains at no wins and one defeat, in two starting and as many relief assignments.

The starting of last night's game was delayed by rain and held up several times due to showers during the course of the contest.

New York and Washington clash in a doubleheader today.

Russia Figures Tie With U.S.

Moscow (AP)—After rechecking Olympic point totals, Soviet officials said yesterday that in their view, the whole thing ended in a tie between Russia and the United States at 494 points each.

This compilation, announced by Nikolai Romanov, head of the Soviet Olympic team at Helsinki and chief of the sports committee in the USSR, changed the previous Soviet stand that Russia won, 494 to 490.

Neither score jibed with the U.S. 614, Russia 533 score arrived at under the widely-accepted American scoring system of 10 points for first place and 5-4-3-2-1 for the next five places. The Russians apparently used a 7-5-4-3-2-1 system.

Romanov, in an interview in Pravda, official organ of the Communist Party, explained that "according to more exact figures now available, U.S. athletes also have 494 points."

Pros Shoot For "World Championship"

Chicago, (AP)—Tam O'Shanter was in excellent shape yesterday, probably more than can be said of the nerves of 80 top pros who today launch the richest tourney in golf history, the $50,000 "World Championship."

The prospector who strikes the big hole in Tam's 72-hole, medal-play gold rush gets $25,000. That's just about as much as Lloyd Mangrum collected last year, $26,088, to reign as 1951's top money-winner.

Promoter George S. May will dish out $12,500 second money—the amount last year's world winner, Ben Hogan, collected—while third place pays $5,000. Fourth spot is worth $3,000, the usual winning take from a first-rate tourney.

Even down as far as 16th place, the prize is $1,000.

It's all quite well worth while, even in the women's pro division which sends an 11-gal field scrambling after a $12,000 melon from which the winner gets a $5,000 slice, top for any feminine tee party.

Separate Sections

The four-day world also includes separate sections for 13 amateur men and 11 gal amateurs, side-shows in which Al—American Champion Frank Stranahan of Toledo and Martha Baker of Chicago are defending champions.

Hogan failed to appear this morning and forfeited his tourney spot to Bill Ogden of Chicago. Another alternate, Jack Isaacs of Langley Field, Va., replaced the missing French champion, J. B. Abo.

This is a high pressure tourney, the type that brings out Hogan's golden touch. But Bantam Ben is an infrequent tourney golfer this year. Hogan and May had differences over appearance money.

Sammy Snead, All-American winner last weekend, thus is left the favorite. However, lesser prizes than May's heavy lettuce have caused Sam to do funny and unprofitable tricks with his sticks.

Although well behind Snead in his 271 All-American triumph, 24 others were able to crack Tam's par 288 for the 72-hole route.

Reds Sell Westlake

Cincinnati (AP)—General Manager Clete Paul of the Cincinnati Reds announced last night that outfielder Wally Westlake has been sold to the Cleveland Indians for cash and two players yet to be named. The amount of cash was not disclosed.

Rain Postpones Running Of Hambletonian Stakes One Day

Goshen, N. Y., (AP)—Rain was the big winner yesterday at Good Time Park and for the second straight year a muddy track with sticky mud but the shower caused postponement of the Hambletonian Stakes.

With 16 horses ready to dispute the three-year-old trotting championship, a noon day shower washed out everything until today. There was no change in the race outlook itself. The Duke of Lullwater from the stable of Walter T. Candler of Deatur, Ga., still is the three to one favorite.

Last year the race was held over one day and Mainliner won the rich pot in two consecutive heats. It hurt the crowd, for many were unable to stay over a day. For this reason Track President William H. Cane made the every effort to run the event off on time this year.

Cubs Rally To Down Reds, 5-3

Cincinnati, (AP)—Turk Lown replaced Paul Minner after two runs to a 5 to 3 victory over Cincinnati yesterday.

The Cub hurler also contributed a triple to the Cubs' three-run uprising in the sixth inning, when Herman Wehrmeister was driven from the mound.

Early Lead

The Reds jumped into the lead their first time at bat on singles by Bob Borkowski, Wally Westlake and Ted Kluszewski, and Joe Adcock's double.

Dee Fondy gave Chicago its first run in the fifth when he clouted his eighth homer of the season.

Then in the sixth, a double by Bill Serena, Roy Smalley's single, Lown's triple and Bob Addis' safety brought in three more markers. "Hank" Sauer's single in the ninth scored Hal Jeffcoat with another run.

Gavilan Signs For Title Defense

Havana, (AP)—"Kid" Gavilan, Havana's idol and world welterweight champion, will defend his title here against Billy Graham of New York sometime the first week of October in a 15-round bout.

Contracts were signed yesterday after discussions between James D. Norris of New York, president of the International Boxing Club; Irving Cohen, Graham's co-manager; and Fernando Balido, one of Gavilan's managers.

Bushkill To Practice

Bushkill—Manager Dan Eppley announced last night that his Bushkill entry in the Pocono Mountains League would hold a practice session today, at 6 p.m., here on the Bushkill field.

Local Track To Feature NASCAR

This Sunday NASCAR drivers will invade Stroudsburg Speedway, according to an announcement made by Tommy Garbar of Bound Brook, N. J., the promoter.

"Nothing will be spared," announced Garbar, "in our effort to give the modified stock car racing fans of eastern Pennsylvania and western New Jersey the best and most thrilling events in this growing new sport."

Headliners

Stroudsburg Speedway, which features six fast events on its dustless dirt track, will homeforth provide another battle-field in the competition between Wally Campbell, Nelson Applegate, and Frankie Schneider, all three of whom captured the hearts of racing fans with their fierce competition.

Garbar further announced that the policy of allowing children under 12 years of age to be admitted free would continue.

Young People To Attend Church Camp

Several boys and girls from the Stroudsburg will leave Sunday for the Seventh-day Adventist junior youth camp at the Potstown Community camp, near Earlville, Pa. The camp will begin Sunday afternoon and last until August 17.

The local youngsters attending are: Richard Schoch, Janet Anawalt, Jane Loney, Lucille Cromwell, Cyrus Miller, Juanita Cromwell, Jerry Mosteller, Elaine Mosteller, Jeanne Loney, Elaine Margaret Oney, Harold Altemose and Gloria Miller.

The camp is one of a chain of 75 summer camps operated by the Seventh-day Adventists in the United States and Canada. More than 8,000 boys and girls attended these camps last summer, according to Lynn R. Callender, camp director, who said that the church is recognizing the importance of camping in combating delinquency.

"Camp life often proves to be the training point in the lives of boys and girls and much good can result even from one brief camping period," he said. Adventist camps are open to youngsters of all faiths, he explained.

A balanced program of activities will keep children busy from early morning until night. Principles of Americanism are stressed, as the youngsters are taught to be good citizens. Worship of God is part of the program, with devotional services each morning and chapel services on week-ends. All of the children will work to earn honor tokens in such subjects as swimming, first aid, nature study, photography, archery, carpentry and even shoe repairing. The camp facilities include a large kitchen and dining hall, medical unit, 30 cabins, swimming pool, and a large playground.

149 Korean War Veterans Seek Mustering-Out Pay

Some 149 Monroe County veterans who have served in all branches of the Armed Forces since the Korean War began have secured applications for their mustering out pay at the Stroudsburg office of Veterans Affairs.

Howard Mount, director of the office, indicated yesterday he will make appointments for veterans who are unable to report to the office during the week or Saturdays from 9 a. m. to noon.

Veterans below the rank of major or lieutenant commander who were released from active duty under honorable conditions are entitled to the payments which range from $100 to those serving 60 days or less within the continental limits of the U. S.; $200 to veterans with 60 days or more within the limits of the U. S. and $300 to those men or women who served 60 days in foreign service.

Schaible's
MILK-IMPROVED
CRACKED WHEAT
BREAD

Remember! Schaible's Cracked Wheat is "Milk Improved" with the milk solids of seven ounces of non-fat milk (only butter fat which would give unnecessary calories has been removed) and "Vitamin Enriched." It contains slightly less salt than other varieties and only honey and brown sugar are used as sweetening agents.

Schaible's Cracked Wheat is a full size loaf of dark bread that is super charged with health features but sells for the same price as ordinary bread.

You do not pay a royalty or an advertising premium for Schaible's Cracked Wheat. Every loaf weighs over one pound with eighteen full size slices, the same as Sunbeam bread — and at the same price.
